2016 TSW Water Levels Summary

At the end of December the TSW will reset its online water levels charts. In order to have a record of the 2016 water levels for all the reservoir and canal lakes CEWF has taken screen shots from the TSW site as of December 26, 2016. These include both the actual level water measurements as well as the historic extremes. The summary charts are organized by sub-watershed and appear in the same order as on the TSW site (from west to east). They may be viewed by clicking below (see also under 'TSW Water Levels').
